Line 4b Program Service Accomplishments Continued:

Since its founding in 1901, the New York Junior League has been a leader in identifying and responding to the vital needs of New Yorkers. Through direct service, advocacy, and collaboration with 60 other community organizations, the New York Junior League embodies a positive force for change within the communities it serves.

The NYJL assists women, children, and families in need by supporting the organizations that serve them through trained volunteers, hands-on programming, and capacity building. NYJL programs incorporate a social-emotional learning (SEL) framework for life skills. SEL is a set of skills, attitudes, and behaviors that contribute to academic, work, and life success, generally including intrapersonal, interpersonal, and cognitive skills. It is the process through which children and adults understand and manage emotions, set and achieve positive goals, feel and show empathy for others, establish and maintain positive relationships, and make responsible decisions. Developed in partnership with NYJL community partners and designed for the needs of our clientele, these programs approach SEL through a range of activities on a consistent, continuous, reliable basis.

In Fiscal Year 2019, the New York Junior League focused on five areas of need:

- Adult Education and Mentoring programs focus on providing adults with life skills training to become healthy, productive citizens of New York City. Volunteers advocate for adults in need and provide training, counseling, and companionship.
- Child Health and Welfare programs teach young people that challenging life circumstances provide opportunities to learn, grow, and persevere. Volunteers serve as mentors to establish a life-long support system that leads to continued success for at-risk youth. Volunteers use a positive approach and harness individual strengths to foster responsibility, self-esteem, and agency.

- Children's Education programs strive to empower children as well as their parents and caregivers with the tools to help them build a positive future. Volunteers provide education support in a variety of disciplines including math, science, art, financial literacy, reading, and writing.

- City Impact programs undertake service projects to increase the impact of organizations on New York City. Volunteers build capacity by lending ad hoc volunteers for immediate and short-term assistance. Volunteers also renovate indoor facilities and outdoor parks to be safe and beautiful spaces for surrounding communities.

- Culture and the Arts programs bring arts education and appreciation to New York City children and teenagers to encourage self-expression while building confidence and self-esteem. Volunteers provide exposure to art and music through robust visual and performing arts curricula and supplemental trips to see live performances and shows.

The NYJL invested $60,000 and 400 volunteer hours, and focused on painting, installing new furniture, increasing storage space, and updating kitchen appliances to create an inviting environment for the residents.

Advocating for Change

The Advocates for Public Policy Committee advocates for legislation and policy on behalf of the New York Junior League, prioritizing issues impacting New York City constituents consistent with the New York Junior League's mission. Through membership in the New York State Public Affairs Committee of the Junior League, we partner with Junior Leagues from across New York State, representing more than 7,500 women, to shape New York state public policy impacting women, children, and families.

In Fiscal Year 2019, Advocates for Public Policy corresponded with 60 elected officials, traveled to Albany 4 times, and met with 33 elected officials to advocate on NYJL priority issues.

Our efforts contributed to 2 initiatives: the passage of New York State's Separation of Children Accountability Reporting (SCAR) Act and the City Council's approval of additional funding for public school social workers to support children and their families struggling with homelessness.

Training and Leadership Development

The ongoing development of trained volunteers is a central component of the New York Junior League's mission. Training and leadership development programs educate and train members and New Yorkers on philanthropic values, board governance skills, and current nonprofit issues. These programs prepare members to be successful leaders and effective volunteers on their placed committees and serving our client populations in the community.

In Fiscal Year 2019, training and leadership development programs hosted 29 trainings for the general membership, bringing in 28 outside speaker guests and featuring 40 New York Junior League members to address over 1,800 attendees.

Leadership Development workshops prepare members for current and future leadership positions at the New York Junior League, in the community, and in their professional lives.

Volunteer Education and Training workshops focus members on developing skills that are important to our volunteer work. These trainings are concentrated on our four core areas: community, fundraising, membership, and strategy and communications.

Nonprofit Education and Training workshops serve small to mid-size nonprofit and community-based organizations through staff training that they do not have the resources to offer and education for those looking to serve these organizations, through board service or a career change.
